What's the one piece of technology that MOST helps you get through your normal workday?

"It is hard to narrow this down to one piece of technology, but I can certainly name three: e-mail, VoIP, and GoToMeeting (like WebEx). With these three technologies, I can easily do business with anyone, anywhere in the world, and at a very low cost.

What will be the biggest change over the next five years in the ways tax and accounting firms operate?

"In the next five years, most firms that are not yet paperless will move to become so. This will enable them to utilize new workflows and technologies not feasible in a paper-based environment. Whether by tapping a global workforce or automating manual processes with the help of Optical Character Recognition technology, digitizing workflow will help firms work more efficiently and effectively than ever before."
