May. 05, 2011

RED WING, MN – May 10, 2011- Red Wing Software, Inc. announces the addition of a new Web page that gives small to medium-sized businesses free tools to help them find the right payroll software: www.redwingsoftware.com/find-payroll-software. Free guides, tips, and articles are available to anyone, at no cost, and do not promote any products; instead they provide real and useful information for payroll software seekers.

“The number of businesses researching payroll software on the internet is consistently high,” says Ken Hilton, Red Wing Software President, “and we wanted to provide useful tools to help those searchers during their payroll software search. Anyone seeking payroll software can take advantage of this new set of tools, since they are free and easy to access, and no signup or submission of any information is necessary.”

Free tools available include a payroll software check list, articles about payroll trends and switching payroll, payroll tip of the week, and more. “There is a sea of information available on the internet for those trying to find the right payroll package for their business,” says Stephanie Elsen, Web Marketing Manager at Red Wing Software, “We hope these free tools help searchers clarify what they are looking for and also hope it makes their eventual transition easier.”

While the new page is focused on providing hype-free tools, searchers are able to view the CenterPoint Payroll Software product page or sign up for a free live demo, if they choose. The Web page is available on the Red Wing Software Web site at: www.redwingsoftware.com/find-payroll-software.
