For users of the ADP ALINE Card, a new online access tool will soon make it easier to access accounting information and payroll data using the recently introduced ADP Mobile Solutions app. This new functionality is one of the recent enhancements to the ALINE Pay by ADP solution, which was named one of the Best Employee Benefit/Transit Prepaid Programs at the 2012 Paybefore Awards.

Employees will be able to use the features starting in June, after registering for the ADP Mobile Solutions app, and will then be able to view their pay statements, paycard balances and recent transactions using iPhones, Android and BlackBerry devices, if their employer receives these services from ADP. Additionally, the app will direct users to the more than 63,000 nationwide ATM network, where they enjoy surcharge-free access to their wages, and to any of the more than 60,000 Green Dot retailers where a MoneyPak can be purchased to load cash to their card.

“By taking advantage of the ADP Mobile Solutions app, ALINE Card users, as well as anyone whose pay is managed by ADP, can view critical pay and card account information for free from the convenience of their smartphone,” said Gary Lott, general manager and division vice president, ADP Unemployment, Payments and Garnishment Services. “ADP is committed to empowering employees with tools they need to manage their pay wisely, and the app exemplifies our continued focus on providing innovative payment solutions to employers and their employees.

“The ALINE Card by ADP has proven to be a formidable financial tool – one that has been recognized by the prepaid card industry for creatively addressing the needs of cardholders – and now we’ve made the card even better with enhancements that were developed in response to cardholder feedback,” Lott added.

ADP also will be offering customized cards for users who want to create a unique
