From the Oct. 2012 Review Section on Payroll Systems.

For firms managing payroll for dozens or even hundreds of companies, the per-client payroll model that many of the online systems use isn't always cost-effective. That's why PenSoft, which has been developing payroll systems for nearly 30 years, provides installed programs that also offer many of the benefits of online data sharing.

PenSoft's payroll systems are offered in several versions, all of which can support multiple companies, but the Accounting Edition is specifically designed for professionals handling all of the payroll processing functions for multiple clients. It can support any number of business entities, including those with multiple departments or separate locations. The Accounting version also includes client invoicing features.

Direct Deposit functions enable the firm to manage ACH transfers or to use optional services available from PenSoft. The system includes reporting for federal and all U.S. states, with rate tables provided as changes are made. Reporting, including W-2, 1099 and 940-series, can be performed directly by the firm for all clients, or they can use another optional service in which PenSoft manages all compliance reporting. The program also offers management of employees with multi-state wage reporting requirements.

Key program areas include support for all pay types, including tipped, bonus, commissioned, advance pay, salary, hourly and contractor, with the ability to create any number of pre and post-tax employee deductions, manage retirement and
