

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Workshop

With uncertainty looming over the economy and the tax code, forest landowners must stay abreast of new and changing regulations to ensure they're not paying more than their fair share when tax time rolls around.

Jan. 23, 2013

With uncertainty looming over the economy and the tax code, forest landowners must stay abreast of new and changing regulations to ensure they're not paying more than their fair share when tax time rolls around.

And they can do just that at the 2013 Texas Timber Income and Property Tax Workshop scheduled for next month in East Texas.

Hosted annually by the Texas A&M Forest Service, the all-day tax workshop is designed to give landowners — as well as the professionals that prepare their taxes — a leg up when it comes to forest management planning.

“Tax laws aren’t exactly known for their simplicity — and the section devoted to forestry is no different. Sometimes even professionals aren’t well-versed in the laws,” said Chris Edgar, a Forest Resource Analyst for Texas A&M Forest Service.

“That’s where our workshop comes in. We’ll help you learn the basics about timber tax and make sure you’re aware of changes that have been made to the laws that affect you.”

The workshop is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 12 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Lottie and Arthur Temple Civic Center, 601 Dennis St., Diboll, Texas. Registration is $70 and includes a workbook, lunch and refreshments.

Topics will focus on federal timber income tax issues for private forest landowners

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Copyright Targeted News Services

Copyright 2013 Targeted News Service LLC All Rights Reserved

State and Local Taxes • Taxes

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved