Foundation Software says it has outgrown its original building and is growing at a rapid rate, so it will move to a bigger, state-of-the-art corporate campus in Strongsville, Ohio on April 1st, 2013. The company makes construction accounting, project management and other software for contractors and construction businesses.

Fred Ode, CEO and Chairman of Foundation Software, is confident that this move will open many doors for the company.

“We’ve been very fortunate to be a part of two great communities in Northeast Ohio, and we’re so proud to be a part of the area. We’re heading back to Strongsville because this new building is the perfect solution for where we are today and where we’re going.”

The newly-constructed 48,600 square foot building, located on Foltz Industrial Parkway, was purposely built for a software company and is the campus that Ode has always envisioned for his company.

Foundation Software’s recent and exponential growth is no accident. Since 1985, Foundation Software has been dedicated to giving contractors the tools they need to better run their back offices.

As well as offering their flagship, award-winning accounting software, the company
