Oversight Solution for Quickly Generating Operational Insights Now Available in Concur App Center to Concur's more than 20 million users.

Apr. 17, 2013

Oversight Systems and Concur have announced a partnership focused on helping customers quickly gain advanced, operational insights to uncover waste and fraud. Oversight is a transaction analysis software company; Concur is a developer of cloud-based travel and expense management systems.

The partnership combines Concur's management solutions with Oversight's advanced operational analysis and insights for automated audit capabilities and policy improvement feedback. As a result of this partnership, Oversight's travel and expense insights will be available in the new Concur App Center. The new app center, unveiled today at Concur's Fusion event, will help businesses and travelers discover applications that deliver significant value to the enterprise as well as to the business traveler.

"Our comprehensive analytics save millions of dollars per year for our multi-national customers," said Patrick Taylor, CEO of Oversight Systems. "With the new Oversight T&E Analysis and Insights App, Concur customers gain the advantage of automated analyses of expense data and insights delivered to managers so they know at the time of approval if there are any red flags."

Tim MacDonald, EVP of Platform and Data Services at Concur added, "We are focused on creating an ecosystem of partners with innovative new products and services for our customers and their employees. The new Concur App Center will deliver seamless integration via Concur's open platform and we are thrilled that
