the release of a new version of its iPad app with enhanced features such as a new design and Quick Entry.

Sep. 19, 2013

Kashoo, developers of cloud accounting software for small businesses, announced the release of a new version of its iPad app and an accompanying video guide. The enhanced version features a new design and new features, such as Quick Entry for income and expense management.

New features of the Kashoo iPad include Quick Entry, an improved process for creating a new business within the app and a complete redesign. Quick Entry lets customers create an income or expense transaction from any tab in the app. Now users can record transactions quickly, accurately and in bulk.

Inputting data is now simpler, as well. Users just need the company name, country, currency and fiscal year start date to successfully set up a company. Kashoo customers can always input additional information such as a logo, a security PIN and other business details later.

“The new Kashoo iPad app is all about making small business accounting easier and more intuitive than ever before,” said Kashoo CEO Jim Secord. “Small business owners are increasingly adopting an ‘anytime, anywhere’ style of business and our app allows them to dominate their finances in just that way via the cloud. We’re excited for people to download the Kashoo iPad app and give a try.”

The app is fully optimized for iOS 7 and is currently available for free download in the App Store.
