Thomson Reuters has been awarded the Operational Risk Software Provider of the Year Award by Operational Risk and Regulation Magazine, in this year's Operational Risk and Regulation Awards. This is the second consecutive year that Thomson Reuters has been awarded this achievement.

The Awards recognize achievements in the area of operational and regulatory risk management, honoring companies and individuals that have demonstrated innovative thinking and provided useful solutions to the operational risk management challenges faced by the financial industry.

Thomson Reuters Accelus Risk Manager was recognized for a combination of flexibility and ease of use. According to Operational Risk and Regulation Magazine, within a single data source, creating a single, connected view of risk across an organization. Reporting whether it is on-screen, ad-hoc, or in a formal format, helps risk executives communicate their organization's risk position to the business, senior management and the board.

“We are very pleased to again be recognized at the Operational Risk and Regulation Awards,” said Chris Perry, managing director, Risk at Thomson Reuters. “Over the past year we have been extremely focused on helping our clients solve the immediate problems that they are facing – coping with the new focus on conduct risk, as well as the ability to meet their combined enterprise risk management, Solvency II, ORSA and operational risk management requirements. This award validates the strength and sophistication of our Accelus Risk Manager platform as well as our commitment to delivering market leading solutions that serve the needs of our customers. This is a credit to our loyal customers and our dedicated staff.”

The recognition comes on top of Thomson Reuters being named as a category leader in the Chartis RiskTech Quadrant(TM) for Enterprise Governance, Risk and Compliance Systems.

Thomson Reuters Accelus dynamically connects business transactions, strategy and operations to the ever-changing regulatory environment, enabling firms to manage business risk. A comprehensive platform supported by a range of applications and trusted regulatory and risk intelligence data, Accelus brings together market-leading solutions for governance, risk and compliance management, global regulatory intelligence, financial crime, anti-bribery and corruption, enhanced due diligence, training and e-learning, and board of director and disclosure services.
