

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Award

A graduate student at Utah State University has been awarded the Beta Alpha Psi Medal of Inspiration Award.

Isaac M. O'Bannon • Aug. 08, 2014

A graduate student at Utah State University has been awarded the Beta Alpha Psi Medal of Inspiration Award.

Lucien Butler was presented with the award on Friday at the Beta Alpha Psi Annual Meeting in Atlanta, GA. Sponsored by the American Institute of CPAs, the award is bestowed upon a student who has experienced extreme hardships in his or her life and who has demonstrated an unusually high level of success despite that adversity. The award includes a $5,000 cash stipend.

From a very young age, Butler was prevented from receiving an education and was required to work at home. His situation was not discovered until he was 14, at which point a court order was issued that finally allowed him to attend school.

Once in school, Butler was substantially behind his peers and struggled to grasp

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us high school, and ultimately adopted him.

After graduating high school, Butler joined the National Guard and went on combat missions in Afghanistan. For his service, he was awarded the Honor of the Purple Heart, an award that commemorates the sacrifices of America's servicemen and servicewomen who were wounded in battle.

“Lucien faced substantial obstacles in his early life that he overcame because of his hard work and perseverance,” said Margaret Fiorentino, Beta Alpha Psi Executive Director. “His impressive record of service to his country and commitment to his community speak volumes about his character. I am confident he will continue to impress and inspire those around him in his career in the accounting profession.”

After completing his National Guard service, Butler acquired an accounting degree at Utah State University. While at USU, he worked with Grant Thornton on a tax internship and performed volunteer work in his Beta Alpha Psi chapter and in the community, all the while excelling in the classroom.

Butler is currently a Master of Accounting candidate at Utah State University where he holds a 3.9 GPA. He is also the incoming vice president for the USU Delta Omega Chapter of Beta Alpha Psi.

Accounting • AICPA

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE

Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved.

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us