packed with powerful new features that help today's modern professionals work more productively...

Jan. 24, 2017

iManage has released iManage Work 10, the most significant update to its market leading professional document and email management application in ten years, packed with powerful new features that help today's modern professionals work more productively on any device from anywhere.

In conjunction with Work 10, iManage has enhanced its iManage Cloud services with technologies relied upon by Internet leaders such as Google, Twitter, and Facebook — making it the first and only cloud to bring this proven technology to professional document and email management.

iManage Work 10 stands out as the first professional document and email management application designed by users for superior usability, enhanced with AI-based smart features that boost productivity, and delivered through elastic cloud-scale services or as an on-premises deployment.

Designed by Users, For Users

To develop Work 10, iManage started with a blank sheet of paper and then studied and interviewed hundreds of professionals about common work tasks, to design a totally new user experience that works the way they do.

- A single, unified, mobile-first user experience ensures that users can learn the software once and have the same experience across phone, tablet and browsers — enabling professionals to work from anywhere and stay productive on-the-go.
- Full integrations with tools professionals use are already in place, including Outlook, Office 365, Gmail, SharePoint, Lotus Notes, Adobe, and over 40 partner products spanning areas including; practice management, document comparison constantly changing work.

- Smart previews enable working with large documents on mobile devices easy and simple.
- Personalized search delivers the most relevant search results, reducing clutter.
- Smart email management suggests email filing locations and auto-files conversations.

Enhanced Cloud Services Increase Performance and Agility

Alongside iManage Work 10, iManage Cloud services have been enhanced with proven technologies such as containerization and advanced data storage (SWIFT), relied upon by leading Internet companies, resulting in:

- True, elastic computing allows scale from the small office to the petabyte level.
- Multi-tenant architecture supporting distributed storage lowers cost of operations and provides greater data resiliency.
- Continuous development/deployment delivers auto-updates with no maintenance windows, increasing reliability and agility, and enables customers to take advantage of the latest innovations and stay up to date.

iManage Work 10 also features a new administrative control center that offers web-based administrative control of common tasks such as workspace design, file unlocking, and security settings — simplifying the deployment and ongoing management of iManage environments.

“iManage Work 10 has been designed from the ground up to help professionals streamline their workflow and work smarter in every way,” said Dan Carmel, iManage CMO. “With its responsive web interface, improved workflow navigation, predictive search capabilities and versatile timeline views, iManage Work increases productivity, reduces cost of ownership and makes it easy for your team to collaborate in a secure and governed manner. Together with our enhanced iManage
