Hartke went on to say, "Focusing on our history, I have chosen the leaf as a symbol for this year. It symbolizes hope, renewal, revival and growth. Yet as we focus on growth and renewal, we are planning to build on the strong foundation and roots that our founder, Ida Broo, and the nine women in Chicago gave us. It is important to 'turn over a new leaf' so we can grow and thrive in our current environment and remain relevant."

An AFWA member since 2008, Hartke has served on various committees at the local and national levels of the organization.

"There are a lot of exciting things happening at AFWA and with Karyn's leadership, the organization is positioned to expand and grow exponentially. We have a strong volunteer base that is dedicated to improving and growing the organization," says Cindy Stanley, Executive Director of AFWA.

The Accounting & Financial Women's Alliance (AFWA) promotes the professional growth of women in accounting and finance. Members of the nationwide association benefit from opportunities to connect with colleagues, advance their careers, and become industry leaders. For more than 80 years, the organization has proudly upheld its mission to enable women in all accounting and finance fields to achieve their full potential and to contribute to their profession.
