

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Leaders

It's a homecoming of sorts for Ellison-Taylor, who served as chair of the Maryland Association of CPAs' Board of Directors during the 2010-11 fiscal year. She was born and raised in Baltimore and, despite her global reach ...

Aug. 27, 2019

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

- Are We There Yet? Why Not?
- Fingers Crossed Is Not A Path To Double-Digit Revenue Growth
- Getting Comfortable With Being Uncomfortable
- Inclusive Leadership: Does It Really Work?
- Leading From The Middle
- Why Standing Still Is Not An Option
- Will SkyNet Become Self-Aware?

She also has expertise in a number of other industries, including the public sector, telecommunications, financial services, health care, and technology.

Read her full BLI thought leader biography at www.BLIonline.org/instructor/kimberly-ellison-taylor.

“We’re honored to welcome Kimberly to our roster of talented BLI thought leaders,” said Tom Hood, CPA, president and CEO of the Business Learning Institute and the Maryland Association of CPAs. “Her depth of knowledge is nearly unequaled, and her devotion to teaching and lifelong learning will help BLI clients master the skills they’ll need to succeed in a changing and complex world. The skills she brings to the Business Learning Institute are exactly what we need to help our profession become more future-ready.”

It’s a homecoming of sorts for Ellison-Taylor, who served as chair of the Maryland Association of CPAs’ Board of Directors during the 2010-11 fiscal year. She was born and raised in Baltimore and, despite her global reach and her influence on a global stage, she still proudly identifies as a Marylander.

Ellison-Taylor's career achievements include leadership roles at Oracle, Motorola,

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

the profession, including recognition as one of the 100 Most Influential People in Accounting by Accounting Today and as one of the 25 Most Powerful Women in Accounting by CPA Practice Advisor.

She serves on the Board of Advisors for the University of Maryland's Robert H. Smith School of Business and on the Advisory Board for the University of South Carolina Upstate's George Dean Johnson Jr. School of Business and Economics.

Ellison-Taylor continues to serve as a leader in the profession as a member of the AICPA Assurance Services Executive Committee and as vice chair for the AICPA's National Commission for Diversity and Inclusion.

She holds a Certified Public Accountant license, the Chartered Global Management Accountant designation, and the Certified Information Systems Auditor credential.

Accounting • Advisory • Auditing • Hardware • Technology

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved