

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

National director of technology.

Aug. 27, 2019

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Rick Richardson has announced his retirement from the accounting profession. The CPA, who also holds the CITP and CGMA certifications from the AICPA, has been a familiar face to generations of accounting professionals from his frequent keynote speaking engagements at trade shows and conferences across the nation for more

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

“Rick Richardson has been a positive influence to the CPA profession for over 40 years,” said Randy Johnston, the founder of NMGI and also a member of the Accounting Hall of Fame and Most Influential People in Accounting. “His insights have helped thousands of people make better technology decisions. It has been a pleasure to utilize Rick’s vast knowledge of the industry while enjoying his sense of humor and unique insights. And now that you have extra time to take more cruises in retirement, Rick: Bon Voyage!”

Richardson was a regular speaker at conferences around the world, including annual events in Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, and New Jersey, as well as at AICPA Engage.

Accounting • Technology

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved