What peers, clients and friends say about Scott:

Scott is a bright, hard-working professional with excellent client relationship skills. His upbeat positive attitude, entrepreneurial spirit and decisive decision making are attributes that have led to his successful rise in the industry.

Scott is a born leader and second generation CPA and accounting firm owner. He is fiercely loyal to his friends and co-workers. He is also a dedicated family man and gives back to the community through efforts that include Junior Achievement.

What technology or business process does Scott see affecting the tax and accounting profession in the next five years?

“As more companies with SOX 404 requirements implement online approvals to demonstrate review or authorization of transactions and reports, financial auditors will need to rely more on information systems auditors to test the system related controls to comply with regulatory guidelines. Auditing ‘around the black box’ will be less prevalent, and auditing ‘through the box’ will become even a greater focus. System related controls will become more firmly entrenched in the assertions around financial statement accounts.”
