Alamo, CA – RealEasyBooks Inc. (REB – www.realeasybooks.com) has announced the release of OnSite RPMW for use by on-site rental property managers. The system gives these professionals greater control, saves time, prevents human errors and seamlessly integrates with REB's Master RPMW program for back office management functions.

AS the creator of the popular ezREB small business accounting software and RPMW Property Management software, REB's release of OnSite RPMW gives on-site property managers the ability to enter and access income, tenant information and work orders right at the property and be able to transfer this data for integration into the Master RPMW database, with one click.

With the integration between OnSite RPMW and Master RPMW, management companies can have their on-site managers access delinquency reports and tenant history, track work orders, and easily generate receipts, invoices and other notices, right on site. Data integration also eliminates the need for double entry, saving time and greatly reducing the risk for human errors.

"With the addition of OnSite RPMW, Property Management companies and owners now have a totally integrated solution to property management – where cost, timing and accuracy are critical." said Ed Lichtman, president of RealEasyBooks, Inc."

"Property Management companies can also proudly point to their use of OnSite RPMW in their presentations to potential clients."

RealEasyBooks Inc. specializes in providing easy-to-use, yet comprehensive accounting software for small business owners and income property owners. Its flagship product, RPMW, was introduced in 1984 as a real-world alternative to complex property management software tools. Popular among owners and Management Companies, RPMW has become a standard for residential and commercial property management. Today the company also serves other small
