Red Wing, MN – November 8, 2010– Red Wing Software, Inc. announces the addition of an Inventory module to CenterPoint Accounting. This module is a great addition to the financial tools within CenterPoint that offer the business sector efficient and accurate real-time inventory management.

“One of the most important issues for a growing business is maintaining inventory in a cost effective way. You want to have those items that your customers want to buy, but you don’t want excess inventory sitting on the shelf,” said Jon Isackson, Red Wing Software Product Manager, “the CenterPoint Inventory module helps you control both your inventory quantities and costs.”

The new Inventory module delivers a wide range of tools to assess the value of inventory and enhance productivity within different departments to improve profitability. Users are able to maintain unlimited number of prices or price calculations for each item, receive real-time inventory updates, as well as accurate GL account assignments that guarantee all GL balances and inventory valuation reports match.
