

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Accounting, and Audit Professionals

The Tax & Accounting business of Thomson Reuters and HotDocs Corporation have teamed up to develop applications for Thomson Reuters' Checkpoint online information platform.

Jan. 23, 2012

THOMSON REUTERS

The Tax & Accounting business of Thomson Reuters and HotDocs Corporation have teamed up to develop applications for Thomson Reuters' Checkpoint online information platform.

HotDocs pioneers the technology behind Interactive Decision Tools, which is now available through Checkpoint and helps tax, accounting and audit professionals resolve workflow issues. The application guides professionals through the decision making process for issues by using a question-and-answer interview format.

While Interactive Decision Tools is the first collaborative application, Thomson Reuters and HotDocs will create additional tax, accounting and auditing applications.

“Interactive Decision Tools is the first to market in our industry and the first

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Checkpoint and automatic calculations.

“Our alliance with Thomson Reuters delivers powerful, flexible, and insightful decision tools for tax, accounting, and audit professionals,” said Russell Shepherd, CEO, HotDocs Corporation. “I’m pleased that Thomson Reuters selected our HotDocs Developer and HotDocs Server to offer state-of-the-art, automated, productivity tools to their customers.”

Technology

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved