

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Taija Sparkman • Feb. 28, 2012

The Indiana CPA Society recently launched a new blog to discuss news, hot topics and issues surrounding the accounting profession. The blog, titled “I was just thinkin’,” offers a platform for readers to connect with INCPAS senior staff about posts.

“This blog allows our members and staff to share their views and expertise on relevant issues,” said INCPAS President and CEO Gary Bolinger, CAE. “We hope our readers will use the blog as a forum to connect with us, share their experiences, and have some fun too!”

At this time, contributing writers consist of INCPAS senior staff, but INCPAS’ members may be added in the future. Recent posts include “In the beginning...” and “You HAD Mail...”, which reflect on the history of the CPA profession and the end of the postal service, respectively.

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us