workflow is contained in the same single screen interface.

Offices can track their tax and accounting workflow and its related time whether billing by the hour or value billing. Our software is a tool that combines these important elements together instead of using separate applications. We continue this type of integration by including features that track the related phone calls, documents and emails in this same environment. It is no longer necessary to manage and maintain multiple applications to run your firm let alone multiple screens. This type of innovation is not only what sets the newest version of Practice Management apart from all other office systems, but makes it the best natural choice for tax and accounting offices.
