

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Thomson Reuters recently gives professionals a new solution to manage workpapers and source documents while performing a variety of other tasks.

Taija Sparkman • May. 22, 2012

THOMSON REUTERS

The recently released Workpapers CS from the Tax & Accounting business of Thomson Reuters recently gives professionals a new solution to manage workpapers and source documents while performing a variety of other tasks.

With the new Workpapers CS, professionals can choose between an on-premise or cloud-based format and can collaborate in real-time, sharing workpapers, comments and notes with colleagues. Users can perform trial balance calculations, link balances to the trial balance, edit financial statements and prepare documents for digital review and processing.

Scott Fleszar, Vice President, Strategic Marketing, Tax & Accounting, Thomson Reuters, believes Workpapers CS will streamline the task of managing workpapers, making the process more efficient and organized.

“Workpapers CS represents a shift in how practitioners choose to manage

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved