Beyond415 was developed by Jim Buttonow, CPA.CITP, a former IRS Large Case Team Audit Coordinator who worked at the agency for 19 years. The program was developed to give tax professionals a streamlined method of working with ever-increasing notices, which the IRS and other taxing authorities have found to be effective tools.

“This partnership helps Sage Accountants Network members because they work with small business owners and high net worth individuals, and are no doubt seeing an increase in post-filing notices at the local, state and federal level,” Buttonow said. “And they aren’t going to decrease any time soon. As states and the federal government are struggling with budget deficits, they are getting smarter and more technologically streamlined.”

The Sage Accountants Network offers resources to increase technical competency and help grow an accountant’s practice by providing informative communications and resources, product discounts, training, certification and membership benefits related to the Sage portfolio of products. Through the Sage Accountants Network, accounting professionals also have access to Sage products that include accounting and business management software, support services and automatically delivered upgrades and updates, including tax tables when applicable. In addition to software, members receive a complimentary listing in the Sage Accountants Network member locator.
