go with them.”

Discount Tire, a tire and wheel retailer in the U.S., was previously using a combination of processes and software to manage its operations. The company used ONESOURCE Indirect Compliance for its monthly tax returns and manually managed its tax policy liabilities. The complete ONESOURCE Indirect Tax solution will help Discount Tire achieve higher compliance by automating customer and product taxability rules, providing timely and relevant tax data and integrating with finance systems and existing SAP ERP platforms.

“When companies consolidate their sales and use tax operations they can achieve a higher degree of compliance more efficiently,” said Gary Allen, vice president of software technology, ONESOURCE Indirect Tax. “Thomson Reuters already works with a growing roster of retail companies to achieve their transaction tax compliance objectives, so Discount Tire will benefit from this sector-specific expertise.”
