WeiserMazars to lead the Banking Internal Audit practice and are accompanied nationally by their ICS professional team. The merger significantly expands WeiserMazars' Governance, Risk & Compliance Services capabilities.

May. 22, 2014

Accounting, tax and advisory services firm WeiserMazars LLP has announced the completion of its merger with ICS Consulting Partners (ICS), a boutique internal audit, regulatory compliance and credit risk management consulting firm catering to the banking industry.

ICS' Co-Founders, John White and John Palmer, have joined as Principals at WeiserMazars to lead the Banking Internal Audit practice and are accompanied nationally by their ICS professional team. The merger significantly expands WeiserMazars' Governance, Risk & Compliance Services capabilities.

"We are pleased to have industry leaders John White and John Palmer, and their outstanding team, join our firm," said WeiserMazars Managing Partner, Douglas A. Phillips. "They significantly enhance and expand our bank consulting capabilities, providing our clients with the most comprehensive solutions available in an ever-changing regulatory climate and positioning us for further growth."

ICS Consulting Partners is a recognized leader in providing risk management services to banking institutions. ICS creates, implements and maintains customized internal audit, regulatory compliance, and credit risk management programs for clients that range from the world's largest financial institutions to community banks.

"WeiserMazars' stellar reputation and international reach were very appealing to us," said ICS CEO John White. "Our expertise in delivering personalized, attentive services to banking institutions matches WeiserMazars' client-driven culture."
