governments. The new members, whose appointments are effective immediately, will serve terms that extend to December 31, 2015.

“We are pleased to welcome Neria and Richard to the GASAC,” said FAF President and Chief Executive Officer Teresa S. Polley. “Both have demonstrated a strong commitment to working toward well-informed decision making in public sector financial reporting.”

“Neria and Richard’s backgrounds will be of great value to the GASAC as we provide the GASB with thoughtful feedback, insight, and analysis needed to achieve its goal of continually improving accounting standards used by state and local governments,” added GASAC Chairman Martin J. Benison.

Members of the GASAC are chosen from a cross-section of the GASB’s state and local government stakeholders, including users, preparers, and auditors of financial information. GASAC members are selected on the basis of their professional expertise and the depth and variety of experience they bring to their work on the Council.
