Summary & Pricing

Because of its strong integration capabilities, ProSystem fx Practice Management is a solid choice for firms using other components of the ProSystem fx Suite. Several firms not using the suite purchase the practice management portion as a standalone product because of its powerful time, project, marketing and client management features. The price of a 10-user basic system that does not include contact management is $2,260. The version that includes all components is $4,325.
