

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Republican-controlled U.S. House of Representatives, a business group is urging the new Senate to do the same.

Jan. 12, 2015

Following last week's passage of Keystone pipeline construction by the new Republican-controlled U.S. House of Representatives, a business group is urging the new Senate to do the same.

"NFIB members say affordable energy is one of the biggest challenges facing their small businesses. The Keystone XL legislation is a big step toward energy independence, and that’s going to help small businesses all across the country,” said

Hello. It looks like you’re using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

“On top of that, the Keystone XL project is going to mean jobs—not just along the pipeline route but everywhere in the country, because lower energy costs will leave more money for businesses to grow and create jobs. The NFIB is urging the Senate to support small business by passing similar Keystone legislation, and we’re urging the president to sign it into law.”

Small Business

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved