

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us education program for CIMA certification candidates starting on June 1, 2015, according to a statement issued by the Investment Management Consultants Association (IMCA).

Feb. 10, 2015

The MIT Sloan School of Management will begin offering an online registered education program for CIMA certification candidates starting on June 1, 2015, according to a statement issued by the Investment Management Consultants Association (IMCA). Finance professor Andrew Lo, a leading authority on hedge funds, financial engineering, risk management, and behavioral economics, will serve as the program's faculty advisor. CIMA is the accreditation for Certified Investment Management Analysts.

“This strategic relationship with the MIT Sloan School of Management supports

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

CIMA candidates meet their requirements and prepare for their examination, said Peter Hirst, executive director at MIT Sloan Executive Education. “By offering this program online, we are providing a much-needed solution to today’s time-constrained financial advisors and consultants, while still providing them with access to some of the brightest financial minds in the world.”

The MIT Sloan School of Management represents yet another top-tier business school providing education for CIMA certification candidates, who now have four U.S.-based options for completing the education component of the certification: Carnegie Mellon University, The University of Chicago Booth School of Business, MIT Sloan School of Management, and The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. The four schools are ranked among America’s top-20 business schools, according to Bloomberg Businessweek and U.S. News & World Report.

Accounting • Firm Management

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved