Accounting students and firms across the country are gearing up for the 7th Annual Meet The Firms (MTF) Week from Oct. 19-23. The online event, sponsored by the accounting profession's online career community Accountingfly, connects accounting students with accounting firms across the country.

It also helps share valuable insight into the career and delivers individual resumes to more than 7,500 accounting employers.

"It's no secret young accountants tend to leave public accounting for private opportunities," said Jeff Phillips, CEO for Accountingfly. "It is our mission with Meet The Firms Week to educate students on the range of options and benefits of careers in public accounting, and connect them with outstanding public accounting employers. For students who already have landed great jobs, our CPA-led webinars

Helping Students Build Their Careers

This year's event will educate students on the wide-range of career opportunities available in public accounting and connect them with outstanding public accounting employers across the U.S. All resumes will be delivered to 7,500 firms that are hiring interns and entry level jobs right now.

The event includes the following details for students:

- Event registration now open for all students
 - There is no cost to participate
 - Students and recent graduates may apply to hundreds of accounting internship and entry-level positions
 - After the event ends, all resumes will be distributed to 7,500 accounting employers
 - Webinars will be held all week on topics including career paths in different firm sizes, starting a firm, and how to take ownership of your career in accounting.
- Participating students can sign up for the entire series with a simple registration and attend only the sessions that interest them. If there are conflicting schedules, individuals will receive a recording link for each session just by registering.

Connecting Employers With Qualified Candidates

Accountingfly has been building its community of accounting students since 2012 and job placement for firms through the platform continues to rise. With public accounting firms losing qualified accountants everyday, Meet The Firms Week helps build a pipeline of qualified candidates for ongoing recruitment.

The event includes the following details for employers:

- Intern and entry-level positions can be posted for free until Oct. 19
- After the event, employers will receive a digital book of resumes of all participating
