Expensify.

Upon forwarding the receipt to Expensify from Revel's POS, the merchant name, date and receipt amount are immediately SmartScanned with Expensify's patented OCR technology, creating an associated expense within Expensify. Transactions made with debit or credit cards will then be auto-categorized. Currently, 13 of Revel's clients have turned on the integration.

"This feature is easy to implement and it helps my customers transfer their business expenses automatically into reports. The partnership shows that Revel and Expensify are two companies that care about their clients and how they can stand apart from their competitors," says Oussama Mannaa , owner of Soma Eats, a cafe in downtown San Francisco and Revel client.

"We're excited to partner with Expensify, a company that shares our mission of making people's lives easier. Our fully customizable platform allows us to partner with companies like Expensify that are empowering business owners and operators to provide their customers with the best possible experience," says Lisa Falzone, co-founder and CEO of Revel.
