Wolters Kluwer Tax & Accounting has launched CCH® AnswerConnect, an answer-oriented, tax information service developed for both practitioners and corporate tax professionals who rely on quality tax content to advise their clients. CCH AnswerConnect represents a major step forward in how Wolters Kluwer leverages its industry-leading tax information, replacing traditional search and retrieve with a transformed question-and-answer model.

Covering a full spectrum of tax topics and written by Wolters Kluwer and industry experts, CCH AnswerConnect content delivers comprehensive, usable information in a practical format. Focusing on speed to answer, CCH AnswerConnect supports users with intelligent search capabilities, a broad selection of tools and practice aids, and an innovative and intuitive design that puts all relevant information together. These features span the full range of Wolters Kluwer tax content, not a limited set of topics or regulations.

“I see this changing the face of research,” said CCH AnswerConnect client Mitch

Wolters Kluwer worked closely with accountants and CPAs to deliver CCH AnswerConnect, spending hundreds of hours observing tax and accounting professionals and how they found answers. This critical insight helped to shape some of the key aspects of CCH AnswerConnect:

- It needed to be intuitive, practical and improve efficiency and productivity
- Information needed to be topic based, so that users could see the full range of information and insight available on any given topic in one place
- It needed to work in the same manner that customers use technology in their everyday lives

“I am an experienced researcher and still get overwhelmed. CCH AnswerConnect was very intuitive and gave the results in a format that was easy to either read the summary or dig deeper for more details. I love that the guidance and explanations are grouped with results, which makes it easier to follow when you don't have multiple monitors and extra viewing space,” said CCH AnswerConnect client Shelly Butterfield, Senior Tax Manager, Monogram Foods Solutions LLC.

Unlike traditional tax research products that require users to search through various publications and documents to find what they are looking for, CCH AnswerConnect offers users an option to access answers along with expert guidance to help them quickly, easily and confidently complete their work. The platform was built so that both new and experienced tax researchers could dive right in using the same natural language and search functionality they use in their everyday lives.

“We know our clients need access to expertise and productivity solutions that integrate seamlessly into their daily activities and workflow, and they can't risk productivity loss,” said Josh Braunstein, Executive Vice President and General Manager of Wolters Kluwer Tax & Accounting, Research & Learning US. “Now, they
