

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us public company auditing firms address potential risks during the upcoming 2017 audit cycle.

Oct. 12, 2017

CENTER FOR AUDIT QUALITY

Serving Investors, Public Company Auditors & the Markets

The Center for Audit Quality (CAQ) has published two new member alerts to help public company auditing firms address potential risks during the upcoming 2017 audit cycle.

“The auditing profession is strongly committed to continuous improvement in audit quality for the benefit of investors and the capital markets,” said CAQ Executive Director Cindy Fornelli. “These alerts, which address key auditing considerations in an ever-evolving risk environment, reflect that commitment.”

The first of these alerts, Select Auditing Considerations for the 2017 Audit Cycle, identifies and discusses some of the more judgmental or complex audit areas for the upcoming audit cycle, including some of those identified by the Public Company

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

- Financial Reporting Areas
- Increasing Transparency Through Disclosure of Engagement Partner and Certain Other Participants in Audits: PCAOB Rules 3210 and 3211

In addition, the CAQ also has issued a companion alert, Select Considerations for the 2017 Audit Cycle for Brokers and Dealers, to provide auditing considerations that may be relevant for audit and attestation engagements for brokers and dealers registered with the US Securities and Exchange Commission.

Both alerts pose questions for auditors to consider while planning and performing their audits.

Accounting • Auditing • PCAOB

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved