

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Accounting Standards

The Center for Audit Quality (CAQ) has launched a new tool designed to help audit committees exercise their oversight responsibilities as companies implement a new leases accounting standard that begins to take effect in January 2019.

Apr. 04, 2018

CENTER FOR AUDIT QUALITY

Serving Investors, Public Company Auditors & the Markets

The Center for Audit Quality (CAQ) has launched a new tool designed to help audit committees exercise their oversight responsibilities as companies implement a new leases accounting standard that begins to take effect in January 2019. Only 21 percent of finance, accounting and other professionals say their companies are “extremely” or “very” prepared to comply with the new leases accounting standard, according to a recent poll from the Deloitte.

“The new standard is broad and will fundamentally change how companies account for leases,” said Cindy Fornelli, CAQ executive director. “Investors are looking to understand the impact of the new standard, and our tool is designed to help audit committee members, auditors, and company management understand that impact

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us impact multiple divisions within the organization, including accounting, tax, financial reporting, financial planning and analysis, investor relations, treasury, procurement, and real estate. It also begins to take effect just one year after the effective date of the new revenue recognition standard, which was another high-profile accounting change requiring significant implementation effort by company management and boards.

Accounting • Auditing

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved