Thomson Reuters ONESOURCE Global Tax for SAP Ariba Solutions has achieved SAP certification as integrated with cloud solutions from SAP. The ONESOURCE solution, launched in 2017, helps companies using SAP Ariba cloud services to seamlessly calculate and comply with taxes associated with global procurement business transactions. Thomson Reuters ONESOURCE is an industry-leading global corporate tax technology platform that enables tax compliance and reporting in over 180 countries.

"This certification builds on the extensive work between Thomson Reuters and SAP Ariba to deliver value by simplifying tax for our joint customers," said Joe Harpaz, managing director for the Corporate segment of the Tax & Accounting business of Thomson Reuters.

SAP Integration Certification is valid worldwide and verifies the Thomson Reuters

With the launch of ONESOURCE Global Tax for SAP Ariba Solutions in 2017, Thomson Reuters became the first provider verified by SAP to offer a tax calculation solution that could be connected to SAP Ariba solutions.

The longstanding relationship between Thomson Reuters and SAP includes the existing ONESOURCE Global Next Tax integration for US and Canada sales and use tax calculation in SAP ERP and SAP S/4 HANA and a SAP Pinnacle Award.

Developed by Thomson Reuters and leveraging SAP Ariba's API platform, the certified solution enables SAP Ariba customers using SAP Ariba Buying and SAP Ariba Invoice Management solutions to interface with ONESOURCE, and seamlessly and in real-time access dynamic, reliable, global tax content for transactions on the SAP Ariba platform. ONESOURCE Global Tax for SAP Ariba Solutions enables businesses to save time and resources that would otherwise be spent on more error-prone manual processes and put companies at greater regulatory and penalty risk.
