Leading automated travel and entertainment expense management software provider, Certify, announces Certify Travel, a significantly-upgraded version of the company's mobile travel software. Certify Travel now includes the ability for customers to book airfare in addition to car and hotel from their mobile phones. In September of last year, Certify acquired corporate online booking technology from nuTravel, enabling the company to offer a proprietary booking platform to enterprise customers, which may continue using their own travel agency for alternative to SAP Concur.

“We are so glad that Certify can now meet all the needs of corporate travel and expense management, making it extremely competitive with enterprise travel solutions,” said Elaine Bryant, President of GL2 Solutions LLC, which implements software at travel management companies. “Certify is awesome for our clients, providing wonderful customer service and fantastic performance. Its mobile app is the exact experience business travelers seek, allowing them to book and make changes to their itinerary whenever they wish. We can also get it up and running in two weeks compared to 120 days with Concur.”

The past 12 months have been transformative for Certify, starting with last summer's K1 financing and associated mergers, followed by the NuTravel acquisition in the fall. “We are now well-positioned to compete with any enterprise travel solution on the market, making it easy for customers to save money on travel and expense management and adhere to corporate policies while offering employees the best user experience possible,” said Bob Neveu, president of Certify.
