“This has been a fantastic start to 2018 for the TAG Alliances and all our members around the world,” said Richard Attisha, President of TAG Alliances. “Not only are we growing numerically, but the bonds between our members continue to grow as they leverage the multidisciplinary global resources of TAG Alliances. We are seeing an increase in collaboration, cross marketing and business development between our members. All of this translates into an increase in the volume of referrals worldwide and ensures that our members’ clients receive the highest standards of service and responsiveness wherever they may be doing business.”

Collectively, TAG Alliances members provide legal, accounting, financial and business support services on a worldwide scale. TAGLaw is an international alliance of independent law firms and TIAG is a similar alliance of independent accounting firms. TAG-SP, an accompanying association, consists of strategic business partners for TAG Alliances.
