Career Highlights:

I began working as a State Tax Law Editor at Bloomberg BNA in 2011, where I focused on updating Bloomberg BNA's State Tax Portfolios and Navigators. As an editor I worked primarily on sales and use tax analysis, and developed and helped launch a new collection of property tax analysis. In 2013, I was promoted to Assistant Managing Editor and was responsible for maintaining the sales and use tax and property tax reference products. The following year I was promoted to Managing Editor for the same content. At this time, I began working on topic and industry-focused projects that stretched across all State and Federal Tax content, and began organizing a significant expansion of the sales and use tax content that would be launched in 2016. In 2017, I was promoted to Deputy Editorial Director for State Tax. I now manage all reference content for the State Tax Group.
