Inventory levels can be easily tracked using the mobile Warehouse Management app that provides easy barcode scanning capability using a cell phone. And the optional AP Labels module allows users to easily create and print their own barcodes for product labeling, with over 30 types of barcodes supported.

Advance Pro allows users to add images and other related documents such as invoices, warranties or other information to the product file for easy access. The product also supports kitting, with sub item kitting available, and the optional AP Manufacture module allows users to streamline the manufacturing process from tracking bill of materials, labor costs, and work orders, to completing both build to order and bill to stock processes. Assembly items can be serialized when completed, and users can also assign a vendor for each assembly item.

AdvancePro offers multiple pricing levels, with users able to set prices in preferred currencies, assign multiple units of measure for each product and set volume pricing levels for customers and vendors. The product supports multiple valuation methods including FIFO, LIFO, Average Costing, and Last Primary Vendor Bill Costing, which assigns value based on the last vendor bill.

The Reports/Business Intelligence feature in AdvancePro offers excellent management reporting capability, with reports available for inventory, purchasing, warehouse status, sales, and shipping. Available reports include Inventory Forecasting, Expected Inventory, FIFO/LIFO, Unsold Products, and a Net Movement report. All AdvancePro reports can be exported to Microsoft Excel for customization, exported as an RTF file or saved as a PDF.

AdvancePro is a certified Intuit inventory management application, offering seamless integration with QuickBooks products, with the ability to sync customer, vendor, product, and service item data between the two applications. For on-line retailers, AdvancePro offers integration with eBay, Magento, WooCommerce,
