record keeping so you have the right documentation available to you at any time and most importantly in one platform. Core now also serves as not only your business partner but your HR partner. Our goal with Core is to free up hours of time for all our users within every function of the business so you can focus on profits and grow your people” said Shafat Qazi, CEO and Founder of BQE Software

Core HR provides a clear picture of employee performance by connecting with the project management and accounting data already within Core. Employers can now see salary history, benefits, and the full-year cost of each employee to get deeper insights into their employees. They can compare this cost to the utilization rates, realization rates, and effective bill rates for each employee, to determine how an employee affects the firm’s financial health.

“If employees don’t get frequent opportunities to learn and grow, chances are they’ll go somewhere else. It’s important to spend time developing talent then doing paperwork. Core HR is really a winning solution designed specifically for professional services firms that want a cost-effective all-in-one software to run their whole business” says Setareh Motamedi VP of Marketing at BQE Software.
