Invoiced, an accounts receivable automation platform, has announced the availability of Invoiced Payments, powered by Chase. The new, integrated payment processing solution makes it easy for Invoiced customers to securely set up payment processing services.

Together with WePay, the integrated payments business of JPMorgan Chase & Co., Invoiced Payments brings a world-class payment processing capability to more than 23,000 businesses who rely on Invoiced for their accounts receivable operations. Invoiced Payments also works seamlessly within Invoiced's comprehensive Accounts Receivable Automation platform.

The Invoiced platform includes a modern, friction-less customer payment portal that makes it easy for Invoiced clients to offer their customers convenient online payments via credit card, debit card, and ACH. Invoiced Payments makes it possible for clients to accept online payments without having to separately research, set up and integrate an outside payment processor or gateway.

Invoiced Payments offers many features and benefits including:

- Security: Invoiced Payments is PCI compliant, and reduces overall PCI compliance overhead by being directly integrated with Invoiced.

“At Invoiced, our entire purpose is to make billing and collections efficient, effective and easy,” said Jared King, co-founder, and chief executive officer for Invoiced. “By offering Invoiced Payments, powered by Chase, we are able to provide the most comprehensive integrated A/Rand payments solution available to businesses.”

“Small businesses want to concentrate on growing their business, but often get bogged down with back-end operations that take a lot of their time,” said Jennifer Lewis, VP of Marketing, WePay.

“Through our partnership with Invoiced, we are excited about the availability of Invoiced Payments, which addresses some of these challenges.”

Invoiced Payments is available today for all U.S. and Canada-based Invoiced users with paid accounts. For further details or to request a demo visit <https://invoiced.com/schedule-demo>.
