

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us making an impact on the world are a few of the many reasons why students are pursuing their CPA license.

Jan. 28, 2020

Opening new doors and career opportunities, bettering their communities and making an impact on the world are a few of the many reasons why students are pursuing their CPA license.

That's what the winners of the American Institute of CPA (AICPA)'s ThisWaytoCPA Student Video Competition said.

The AICPA competition, which concluded in December 2019, was designed to engage college accounting students and provide a better understanding of what is driving students to attain their CPA. It is one of a wide variety of efforts by the AICPA to generate interest in the profession and the CPA licensure.

For the video competition, full-time students at two- or four-year colleges or universities submitted a two-minute video answering: "Why do you want to become a CPA?” Videos were scored on the quality of content and production, as well as the

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

- Nick Brayden, Ohio Wesleyan University
- Sayyada Khaki, University of Central Florida
- Zachary Lane, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
- Shehreyar Rehman, Rider University

The AICPA remains committed to fostering a strong pipeline of students entering the accounting profession and attaining their CPA license. This includes several scholarships to help students gain their accounting education, high school curricula so students enter college with a solid foundation in accounting, and internship and leadership programs for college students.

Accounting

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved