"In our initial call with Ted, I knew right away that he was our ideal client. He knew exactly what he wanted and was able to portray that to us in great depth," comments Benjamin Marc's President and CEO, Anthony Savino. By December the Financial Forensic Investigations logo was developed giving Levine a professional brand name. "While developing the website we were so impressed by the abundance of knowledge and attention to detail that Tedd put into his work. Every page of the website explains each service that Financial Forensic Investigations provides, leaving readers with no questions, just answers," says Benjamin Marc.
