

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us adversity strikes, it's not what happens to you but how you respond to what happens to you that has the greatest impact on your life. Here are four specific actions ...

Sandi Smith Leyva • Mar. 23, 2020

Perseverance is a skill that anyone can learn to thrive through life's curves. When adversity strikes, it's not what happens to you but how you respond to what happens to you that has the greatest impact on your life. Here are four specific actions you can take to persevere in the toughest of circumstances.

One – Move into a Place of Positivity

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us you've opened it?

2. What do you want to accomplish that you haven't yet?
3. What business relationships do you cherish?
4. What new business relationships do you want to develop in the future?
5. Do you consider yourself incredibly lucky? If so, what for?
6. What resources do you currently have that you can leverage differently to get through this time?

Contemplating the answers to these questions should shift your perspective to seeing a bigger picture about your business and its goals and purpose.

Two – Define What You Can Control

The current situation may be knocking the wind out of you. If you've been in business for a while, you've seen other hardships: recessions, 9/11, and personal ups and downs. How did you react to your circumstances then, and more importantly, what did you learn that you can use today?

American theologian Reinhold Niebuhr wrote the Serenity Prayer which is a good reminder right now: "God, grant me serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and wisdom to know the difference."

Entrepreneurs that are perseverance-focused will identify activities that they can control and take action to keep their business going.

Three – Plan for the Worst, Hope for the Best

A little cliché, yes. But it's timely. Planning is essential now, and this is where accountants can roll up their sleeves and dive in to help their small business clients.

Start by offering your at-risk clients a cash flow projection. If you're trained, help

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us right opportunity for me.

About one-third of the way into the trip, in Africa, I was way in over my head! I knew it would be hard; I knew we had a one percent chance of dying. But I didn't count on so much going wrong. Our GPS failed, the radio failed, the air conditioning failed, the ground navigation in Africa didn't work, the air traffic control systems were dismal, and our safety was threatened on the ground as well.

It's amazing what we can pull out of ourselves when we have to. Somehow I found the strength because I had to.

Know that when the time comes, you'll surprise even yourself with how much perseverance you really have.

=====

Sandra L. Leyva, Inc. is passionate about helping owners of accounting firms and bookkeeping practices grow and succeed. She does this through three divisions:

- Accountant's Accelerator provides webinar, live, and self-study CPE training on marketing, practice management, and time management to small CPA firms and bookkeeping practices.
- Accelerator Websites and Accelerator Newsletters provide a complete outsourced digital marketing solution for CPA firms and bookkeeping practices, including websites, client newsletters, email marketing, social media, SEO, videos, logos, and more.
- Accelerate Small Biz provides CPE training on advisory services to CPAs and bookkeepers along with the accreditation Certified Business Profit Consultant.

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us