In this emergency action, the CPA Endowment Fund of Illinois is awarding 16 laptops for students at nine Illinois schools, including DePaul University, Governors State University, Illinois State University, Loyola University, Northeastern Illinois University, Oakton Community College, Roosevelt University, University of Illinois at Chicago, and University of St. Francis.

“Delivering laptops to deserving students during this health crisis is a very tangible way the CPA Endowment Fund of Illinois can make a difference in their lives during a very trying time,” says Kari Natale, CAE, senior director of the CPA Endowment Fund of Illinois. “The COVID-19 pandemic has upended their semesters and, as much as possible, we want to make sure it doesn’t upend their studies or their futures in the accounting profession.”

For more on this initiative, you’re invited to read, reprint, or share the Insight article, “Laptops: A Lifeline for Students Impacted by COVID-19.” To participate in this initiative or donate a laptop to a deserving accounting student on the wait list, please contact Kari Natale at natalek@icpas.org.
