The COVID-19 Tax Resource Portal is free. There is both a generic version of the site and a branded version option. Firms will want to brand their portal if they wish to use the portal to push the content to their clients through social posts and use it to identify their clients that need help.

“We’ve been blessed by thousands of firms that have used our products and services over the past 40 years,” added Enzler. “This is something we can do to help. So please review the COVID-19 Tax Resource Portal and use it to assist your firm and your clients navigate these troubled waters.”
