of CPAs and Council for the AICPA. I immersed myself in each organization's advocacy efforts and their collective goal of bettering the profession. As a political junkie, tax and politics is like peanut butter and jelly…. Daily staples that keep me balanced and feeling good.

What are you doing to make a difference in the profession, your community, the world?

For the last 15 years or so years I have served on a number of boards for non-profit organizations. However, the time I have spent with accounting and business students at the high school level has been an annual must. This time has taken many forms including providing industry perspectives for career and technical education administrators and teachers, drafting questions for yearend assessments for accounting students, talks for accounting and business classes, judging FBLA events, etc… Developing future accountants may be a long shot but, worth the time.
