

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us and CEO of TXCPA. "To obtain a .cpa domain you have to be a licensed CPA firm, individually licensed CPA, or approved CPA-affiliated organization and undergo verification.

Jan. 11, 2021

The Texas Society of CPAs recently launched their updated website domain, tx.cpa (formerly tscpa.org), using the new, restricted .cpa internet domain exclusive to the accounting profession. Similar to .gov or .edu, this new domain helps licensed CPA firms, individually licensed CPAs, and state societies deliver enhanced trust, security and authenticity in the digital world.

The new domain is also an extension of the accounting organization's 2019 rebrand when the official acronym was changed from "TSCPA" to "TXCPA." This major rebrand helped TXCPA highlight the organizations' Texas pride while differentiating themselves from the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy and other state

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us representing the CPA profession, was awarded ownership and management of the .cpa top-level domain in 2019. CPA.com, the AICPA's business and technology arm, is responsible for marketing and administering the restricted domain in the United States and globally.

Licensed firms may apply for any available .cpa name on a rolling, "first come, first served" basis. Individually licensed CPAs will also be able to apply for their preferred domains starting Jan. 15. More information can be found at domains.cpa.

Accounting • Technology

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved