

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

Invoiced will also provide an offer to be part of Visa's commerce in a box initiative, a curated selection of offers available to small businesses in six U.S. cities.

Jun. 18, 2021

Invoiced, the award-winning Accounts Receivable Automation platform, today announced a collaboration with Visa, the world leader in digital payments, to offer its software to winners of Visa's She's Next Grant Program focused on removing the disproportionate barriers faced by Black women founders.

The offer provides grant recipients with a free, one-year subscription to Invoiced. Invoiced will also provide an offer to be part of Visa's commerce in a box initiative, a curated selection of offers available to small businesses in six U.S. cities. For its part,

Invoiced will be providing an exclusive discount on its subscriptions for program

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

“Our She’s Next Grant Program aims to make a meaningful difference, quickly, for the communities and their business owners who need it most,” said Gloria Colgan, global head of card products and platforms, Visa Business Solutions. “Through our work with Invoiced, today’s most ambitious Black, female entrepreneurs and small businesses who receive our commerce in a box can take advantage of modern, powerful technology for billing, collections and the full invoice-to-cash process,” she added.

Invoiced offers are available to the 60 recipients of the She’s Next Grant Program as well as participants in Visa’s commerce in a box initiative being rolled out in six U.S. cities, starting with Washington D.C. and to continue in Atlanta, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles and Miami..

Accounting • Benefits • Technology

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved