

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us professionals of all levels of experience. The first discussion will focus heavily on the ...

Isaac M. O'Bannon • Nov. 02, 2021

The last two years have been tumultuous for tax professionals, to say the least. To help tax pros prepare for this coming tax season, two industry leaders have teamed up to host a series of roundtable discussions about the most pressing issues facing tax professionals and address challenges that tax pros will face this upcoming tax season.

The National Association of Tax Professionals (NATP) and Drake Software are

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

“It’s unclear what the next few months will bring for tax preparers and tax law change, but NATP is committed to providing tax professionals with the education they need to perform their job with excellence and serve their hardworking clients,” said NATP Executive Director Scott Artman, CPA, CGMA.

“We’re thrilled to collaborate with the NATP and help educate tax professionals on the key issues facing the industry for the upcoming season,” said Drake Software Chief Revenue Officer John Sapp, CPA. “We look forward to bringing our domain knowledge and expertise to these timely roundtable discussions.”

To learn more about this event, visit natptax.com/taxestoday. To learn more about the National Association of Tax Professionals, please visit natptax.com. To learn more about Drake Software, visit drakesoftware.com.

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved