During his acceptance speech at ICPAS’ Leadership Recognition and Awards Dinner on June 9, 2022, Mandigo shared his interesting career path and thanked many for their support: “I am deeply honored to be included among those amazing and distinguished members who have received this award,” he said. “Events in my life kept pulling me to the accounting profession. Recognizing the impact of being a CPA, I undertook an MBA at the age of 40 with a major in accounting, followed by sitting for the CPA exam. I immediately joined ICPAS. Many thanks for the opportunities and doors that were opened.”
